Poem

Not How Did He Die, But How Did He Live?

Not how did he die, but how did he live?
Not what did he gain, but what did he give?
These are the units to measure the worth
Of a man as a man, regardless of his birth.
Nor what was his church, nor what was his creed?
But had he befriended those really in need?
Was he ever ready, with words of good cheer,
To bring back a smile, to banish a tear?
Not what did the sketch in the newspaper say,
But how many were sorry when he passed away?

A Tribute in Verse

My Dad

written by Carl's father, Arthur and read by grandson, Eliot

When 5 o'clock comes round I'm glad,
For then I'm off to meet my dad.
And running down the street I go,
To wait outside the shop we know.
Quite soon my dad will come along,
He takes big strides, he's tall and strong.
'Hallo, old chap,' he'll say to me,
'I wonder what Mum's got for tea?'
And as we wend our homeward way,
I tell him all I've done today.
