Poem

When I'm Gone

by Mosiah Lyman Hancock

When I come to the end of my journey
And I travel my last weary mile,
Just forget if you can that I ever frowned,
And remember only the smile.

Forget unkind words I have spoken,
Remember some good I have done;
Forget that I ever had heartache
And remember I've had loads of fun.

Forget that I've stumbled and blundered
And sometimes fell by the way;
Remember I have fought some hard battles
And won, ere the close of the day.

Then forget to grieve for my going,
I would not have you sad for a day
But in Summer just gather some flowers
And remember the place where I lay,

And come in the shade of evening
When the sun paints the sky in the west,
Stand for a few moments beside me
And remember only my best.

Moment of Reflection

Music: Beethoven's Pastoral Symphony No. 6, First Movement

Final Commendation and Farewell

The Lord's Prayer

Our Father, which art in heaven,
Hallowed be thy Name.

Thy kingdom come.
Thy will be done on earth,
As it is in heaven.

Give us this day our daily bread.

And forgive us our trespasses,
As we forgive those who trespass against us.

And lead us not into temptation,

But deliver us from evil.

For thine is the kingdom,
The power, and the glory,

For ever and ever.

Amen.

Ian's family would like to thank you very much for your kind thoughts and support at this difficult time.

If you would like to make a donation in Ian's memory, his family ask for these to be made via A. W. Lymn Funeral Directors in support of The Salvation Army, a charity close to Ian's heart. There is also a Lymn's online obituary page set up for Ian where you can donate to this way.

The family chose The Salvation Army as Ian has always been encouraged to support them by the late John Turner, a key influence and much-loved person in Ian's life. Ian's daughter in law, Elaine, was also a member of the Salvation Army as a child and teenager.

And, while everyone can't gather together after the service to celebrate Ian's life and share memories of him in person, everyone is invited to join the family, wherever you may be, in raising a toast to him at 6.00 pm this evening; to remember happy times and to celebrate a life well lived.
