Words of Comfort

Feel no guilt in laughter; she would know how much you care,
Feel no sorrow in a smile that she's not here to share,
You cannot grieve forever; she would not want you to,
She'd hope that you could carry on the way you always do.

So, talk about the good times and the way you showed you cared,
The days you spent together, all the happiness you shared,
Let memories surround you, and a word someone may say
Will suddenly recapture a time, an hour, a day.

That brings her back as clearly as though she were still here,
And fills you with the feeling that she is always near,
For if you keep those moments, you will never be apart,
And she will live forever, locked safely in your heart.

Poem

The Visitor

When you came and spent some time with us,
You filled our lives with light and loveliness,
And when you sat and shared your life with us,
You filled our minds with fun and liveliness,
And now, although you've gone,
You leave so much with us;
You fill our hearts with love and kindness.
