Poem

Colours

Yevgeny Yevtushenko

When your face appeared over my dishevelled life,
I first understood the poverty of what I had.

Then its particular light, on woods, on rivers, on the sea,
Became my beginning in a coloured world.

I am frightened of the unexpected sunrise finishing,
Of revelations and tears and excitement finishing.

I don't fight it, my love is this fear, I nourish it who can nourish nothing,
Love's slipshod watchman.

I am conscious that these minutes are short and that the colours in my eyes
Will vanish when your face sets.

Final Farewell

Our Revels Now Are Ended

Our revels now are ended. These our actors,
As I foretold you, were all spirits and
Are melted into air, into thin air:
And, like the baseless fabric of this vision,
The cloud-capp'd towers, the gorgeous palaces,
The solemn temples, the great globe itself,
Yea, all which it inherit, shall dissolve
And, like this insubstantial pageant faded,
Leave not a rack behind. We are such stuff
As dreams are made on, and our little life
Is rounded with a sleep.
