WELCOME AND INTRODUCTION

POEM

by Luke

You were good,
You were kind,
You'd always bear everything in mind.

Fetch a motorbike here, or catch a lift there,
There was no need for any bus fare.

Work tomorrow? Sandwiches were made,
Cheese and ham, wham, bam - lunch just so.

Volkswagen flat-fours and crew cab doors
Faulty hooters and blown fuses, never mind,
It's a passion of yours, enjoyment defined.

Football with Forest and England too,
So close yet so far, still, there's hope to cling-to -
Maybe next time they'll get that breakthrough!

Your taste in music, that's mine too
Iron Maiden roar, Pink Floyd, haunting solos galore.
Tom Petty, Steely Dan, the list could go on,
To me, you were always the front-man.

Time with you was never a chore,
With all the great things that you stood for.
Such a shame, there was more to explore.

I give my deepest thanks for all you have done,
I wouldn't be who I am without you, your son.
