Order of Service

Tattersall

Welcome and Introduction

My Turn

*He was the cellar step of 69a Dame Agnes Street.
He was the 7th son of the 7th son, and the youngest son of 14.*

He was the fastest trolley cart.

He was the cub - no uniform, just handmade garters.

He was right-handed, but then went left.

He was the leader of the gang.

His mum was a whisperer of horses and they called her "Gypsy".

He fell in love at four to the girl with the wild red hair and a banana!

He was the cowboy in the Westerns.

He was the Teddy Boy from the back streets of St Ann's.

He was a peacock.

He was 'Jack the lad' at the majestic cinema.

He was the gooseberry for Freddy Fisher.

He was the hard-working hands down the pit.

He was the soulmate of Mavis.

He was the AWOL and Jankers hero.

He was the medal for Active Service.

He was 'Dieu et mon droit'.

*He was strong.
He was the righter of wrongs.
He would argue black was white.
He was the pencil drawing.
He was Laurel and Hardy.*

*He was number 56 Baker Avenue NG5 8FU.
He was the knocker of doors.
He was the centre of attention.
He was a leader of men, but one of the lads.
He was right, even if he was wrong!*

*He was the narrator of stories.
He was the diver in the pool.
He was the captain of the ship.
He was number 16 on roulette.
He was the laughter from his grandchildren.*

He was 'Jik'.

*He was the "my turn" in the game.
He was, "How much do you weigh?"
He was 'Mad Jack the Englishman'.
He was the apple pie and custard.
He was the trophy of Birdy Bingo.
He was Mr Round Robin - the bookies' favourite.*

*He was the protector of all.
He was the Ravenhill Champion - he rode the bastard home!
He was strong to the end.
He never grew old and never grew up.*

And last of all, he was emphatic!

Blessing of Rest

The family would like to thank everyone for their kind words and support at this sad time.

All are welcome for light refreshments at Foxhills,
Foxwood Lane,
Woodborough,
Nottingham
NG14 6ED.
