POEM

I was that which others did not wish to be.

I went where others feared to go, and did what others failed to do. I asked nothing from those who gave nothing and reluctantly accepted the thought of eternal loneliness should I fail. I have seen the face of terror, felt the stinging cold fear, and enjoyed the sweet taste of a moment's love. But most of all I have lived times others would say were best forgotten. At least some day I will be able to say I was proud of what I was and always will be, one of the few, that happy few, that happy band of brothers
