WORDS OF WELCOME

POEM

Moor Fever from Poems of the Eastern Moors

I must go onto the moors again, to the lonely moors and sky,
And all I crave is the solitude, and let the world pass by.
Some days begin with biting rain and all the world is shaking,
Or grey mist masks the moorland face with a grey dawn breaking.

I must go onto the moors again, for the call of the rutting deer
Is a wild call and a clear call, that echoes loud and clear,
And all I ask is a sunny day with the white clouds flying
And the moorland paths beneath my feet and the curlews crying.

I must go onto the moors again for the nature lover's life,
To the lark's way and the lapwing's way where the wind cuts like a knife,
And all I ask is a smile or nod from a passing fellow-rover,
And quiet sleep and memories when the long day is over.

A bouquet of yellow roses is shown in the upper right corner of the page. The roses are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. They are set against a light-colored wooden background. The overall image has a soft, slightly faded appearance.

REFLECTION
Music: Allegro from The Four Seasons, Spring
performed by Nigel Kennedy

THE LORD'S PRAYER

Our Father, who art in heaven,

hallowed be Thy name;

Thy Kingdom come;

Thy will be done,

on earth as it is in heaven.

Give us this day our daily bread.

And forgive us our trespasses,
as we forgive those who trespass against us.

And lead us not into temptation,

but deliver us from evil.

For Thine is the Kingdom,

the power and the glory,

for ever and ever.

Amen.
