OPENING WORDS

POEM

I'm There Inside Your Heart

Right now I'm in a different place
And though we seem apart,
I'm closer than I ever was,
I'm there inside your heart.

I'm with you when you greet each day
And while the sun shines bright,
I'm there to share the sunsets, too,
I'm with you every night.

I'm with you when the times are good
To share a laugh two,
And if a tear should start to fall
I'll still be there for you.

And when that day arrives
That we no longer are apart,
I'll smile and hold you close to me,
Forever in my heart.

CLOSING WORDS

POEM

Last Will And Testament

I suppose, one day I will be dead and go to meet my maker.
So have this note sat in my hand there for the Undertaker.

Don't dress me in a shroud of white, or rouge my cheeks all red.
It's not right to look a fright, even though you're stone-cold dead.
Give me a brand new five pound note, and a visa credit card.
I want to buy a proper plot in Old Saint Peter's Yard.

And as I sit up on my cloud and look down at the earth,
I'll watch you use my worldly goods for festival and mirth.

And that will make me smile a smile and have a laugh, quite hearty.
To hear you say, the bugger's dead, let's have ourselves a party.
